

McDermott International

The company was included in KLP's investments in 2010. The American company McDermott has been excluded because of its involvement in nuclear weapons production. McDermott International has now sold all assets in the subsidiary Babcock & Wilcox Company, where the nuclear weapons activity took place, and KLP can again invest in the company.

McDermott is a construction and construction company that focuses on offshore projects in the oil and gas sector. Babcock & Wilcox, in turn, was listed and excluded, but is not included in KLP's benchmark index.
